The Player's Bat Logo must not be obscene, inappropriate or offensive or be likely to have any detrimental impact on Cricket Australia, a player's State Association or any commercial partner of Cricket Australia.
- 6.2. The following applies to players who wish to carry commercial logos on their bats when playing in or training for matches played under the auspices of Cricket Australia or a State Association, but only to the extent that the ICC's rules and regulations concerning advertising on clothing and equipment (as amended from time to time) do not apply.
 - (a) Players must apply to their State Associations for approval to display a commercial logo on the back of their bat. Subject to the following paragraphs, the State Association must deal with the request as if it were a request for approval of a regular personal endorsement under clause 6.2 (or equivalent) of the General Conditions of Player Contract (e.g. there must be no conflict with the protected Cricket Australia sponsors or the relevant State Association's major sponsors).
 - (b) Subject to paragraph (c) below, the "three or more" rule continues to apply as set out in the General Conditions of Player Contract. This means that no more than two players from the one State Association will be allowed to have an arrangement with the same company in relation to commercial bat logos.
 - (c) State Association players who have pre-existing bat logo agreements with non-conflicting sponsors (i.e. not conflicting with one of the Cricket Australia protected sponsors) and who are selected in a Cricket Australia team may continue to display those logos even if there are two or more other members of the Cricket Australia team who have the same logo on their bats. However, such players may not renew such agreements if, at the renewal date, they are bound to a Cricket Australia contract and renewal would constitute an infringement of the "three or more" rule as set out in the standard player contract.
 - (d) State Association players who are selected in a Cricket Australia team or are upgraded to a Cricket Australia player contract will not be permitted to display commercial logos associated with companies that compete with any of Cricket Australia's protected sponsors (as they stand at the time the player enters into their bat logo deal). When negotiating bat logo deals, State players should ensure that if they are selected in a Cricket Australia team, they are able to remove the logo for the period of the match if it would infringe the rule mentioned in the previous sentence. Cricket Australia does not require the deal to be terminated; only that the promotion be limited to domestic matches.
 - (e) The rule mentioned in paragraph (d) above will not apply in the case of Cricket Australia sponsors that form an arrangement with Cricket Australia after the player has obtained approval from their State

Association to enter into their bat logo deal – at the time of approving the request the State Association will confirm the identity of Cricket Australia’s then-current sponsors.

- (f) The ICC sets its own rules regarding logos on bats and other playing apparel and equipment in international matches: see the ICC Logo Policy. Players should ensure that appropriate “carve out” clauses are included in all bat logo (and other sponsorship) contracts in case the player is selected to play for Australia or for their State Association in a special ICC event. Players should contact the ACA in relation to the wording of such clauses.
- (g) For the avoidance of doubt, Cricket Australia shall have the final say in determining whether approval shall be provided or not in accordance with the information and rules set out above and no player may pursue any action against Cricket Australia or any BBL team or State Association should he be precluded from displaying a Player’s Bat Logo by reason of the same.

7. OTHER MARKS & INSIGNIA

- 7.1. Numbers indicating a player’s order of selection for their state may be displayed on the playing shirts and headwear provided such numbers shall be not more than 2cm (0.78 inches) in height.
- 7.2. Subject to obtaining the prior written approval of Cricket Australia, State Associations who have won the Domestic Four-Day or One-Day series may display a non-commercial symbol on the respective playing shirt representing this accomplishment and the number of times won.
- 7.3. Numbers indicating the number of caps earned by a player for their State Association may be displayed on the playing shirts and headwear in a position immediately below the State Logo. Such numbers shall not be more than 2cm (0.78 inches) in height.
- 7.4. No other marks or insignia may be displayed on the player’s clothing without the prior approval of Cricket Australia.
- 7.5. Visible Tattoos (permanent or temporary) incorporating any Commercial Logo or Manufacturer’s Logo shall not be permitted.
